Which cookies do we use? What information do they collect?

Like nearly all websites, the websites owned and operated by Access Community Trust, which includes www.accessct.org, use cookies in order to provide you with a more personalised web service. We are unable to operate all of the functionality of the websites without using cookies.

A cookie is a text only string of information that we pass to your computer's hard disk through your web browser so that the Website can remember who you are.

Cookies cannot be used by themselves to identify you. A cookie will typically contain the name of the domain from which the cookie has come, the 'lifetime' of the cookie, and a value, usually a randomly generated unique number. For more information about cookies, please see www.allaboutcookies.org.

Under new rules, we are required to obtain your consent to use cookies. If you continue to use this website having seen the notice then we assume you are happy for us to use the cookies described above.

The cookies we use are designed to help you get the most from our website, but if you do not wish to receive cookies you can easily modify your web browser to refuse cookies or to notify you when you receive a new cookie. To change your settings for your web browser you will need to go to your advanced preferences. However, you may not be able to use all the interactive features of our site if cookies are disabled, and so in order to enjoy the Site fully, we recommend that you leave them switched on.
